YES, TED, IT CAN BE DONE

I know you can make money without spending (much) money, because I did it.

My experience is that you can start out by only paying for your

Also, as those early commission payments start to come in, consider investing the funds back into your business. Either in paid advertising to start an upward cycle. Or in buying software tools or monthly services to take care of some of the many tasks you will soon find yourself doing. I've come across many of these products and services in the past few years. Some of them are long-term investments. Some are short-term investments. Some are one-time investments. Some are recurring investments. Some are one-time investments. Some are recurring investments. Some are one-time investments. Some are recurring investments.
